

Connect and learn in the online classroom

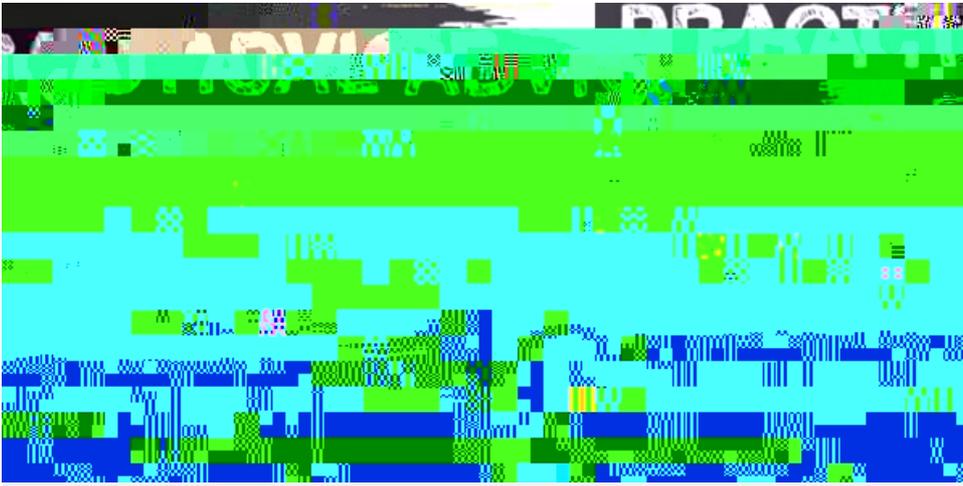

Due to the unusual circumstances this year, you're likely to find yourself using video conferencing software for your studies. Here we help you to optimise your online learning experience using these platforms. Find out more.

Mind the gap - digital skills at UCL

Here at UCL, we use a c

What do you need to succeed? Personal tutoring at UCL

What do you need to succeed whilst here at UCL? Well, engaging with your personal tutor from the start is one way to help ensure your time here is a success. Find out more about how your personal tutor can help you here.

Change the World

At UCL Engineering, our research is changing the world. Discover how our departments are pushing the boundaries of the discipline of engineering.

Your online induction, part 2 - Connected Learning at UCL

While social distancing continues, there will be limited opportunities to offer face-to-face teaching and learning in its most familiar forms. The Connected Learning at UCL course explores our approach to ensuring your online learning is active, collaborative, and enjoyable, and offers a practical opportunity for both new and returning students to experience an online course before the new term begins. Get started!

University College London | Gower St, Bloomsbury, London WC1E 6BT |

Your online induction, part 3 - Discover UCL Library Services

Our online library induction is your essential first step to using UCL's libraries, including all the resources and services available. Find out more.

EXPLORE THE COUNTDOWN TO UCL

Facebook

Twitter

Website

Instagram